How can I do that? I don't want to use a web view inside a web view. A: You can add a google map to the UIWebView like this: NSString *html = @""; [myWebView loadHTMLString:html baseURL:nil]; However, there's a problem with this because the UIWebView is not able to zoom in on the map, which you could try to fix by adding the following code to load the Google map: NSString *zoom = @"sensor=true"; NSString *location = @"San Francisco, CA"; NSString *string = [NSString stringWithFormat:@"%@%@?z=%@&hl=en", location, zoom, @"", location, zoom]; [myWebView loadRequest:[NSURLRequest requestWithURL:[NSURL URLWithString:string]]]; Here's a working example: UPDATE: I've run into a few new problems with iOS 11 and Xcode 8. Here's a working version that should still work in iOS 11. You can change the location to wherever you want to display the map. - (void)viewDidLoad { [super viewDidLoad]; NSString *html = @"
