Software that converts videos in different formats to GIFs, AVI, MP4, WMV, MOV and more. Free to use and very easy to use. An extensive help file helps you through the whole process. Free Video to GIF Converter runs on Windows XP, Vista or Windows 7. Code Snippet Previewer is a utility tool for generating snippets of code for Visual Studio. You don't have to enter any code, just open an existing code file and hit the Generate Code button. The utility will produce a new code file in the project you are currently editing. You can choose the language, whether the code snippets should be generated on or off, whether the generated code should have XML comments, and also the language in which the code snippets should be formatted (C#, VB.net, Delphi, Java, C++, etc). You can create code snippets for class, method, property, nested class, constructor, destructor, event, operator, and even class members like fields or event handlers. You can also control how the code snippets will look like. You can choose whether the snippet should be placed at the end or before the cursor, whether the generated code should be multiline or not. The general code snippet editing is also supported. In addition to providing a complete code snippets generator, Code Snippet Previewer also includes a programmer's time-saver. Instead of generating code snippets by opening the file and copying the generated code from the clipboard, Code Snippet Previewer will preview the code snippet and insert it into the current file. SurfOn is a web browser extension that allows you to surf the web using the same browser tabs you already have. When you find an interesting tab in your Google Chrome and Firefox browsers, right-click and choose "Copy Tab to Surfn". Similarly, you can "Open With New Tab" or "Open With Other Application" to use the tab you've copied. But more importantly, SurfOn provides an overview of all the sites you've visited in the past and allows you to see how often you've visited certain sites, while also presenting the tab's content in the lower panel, right under the location bar of the web browser. You can now use all the tabs you already have in your browser, without giving a second thought. It's just like you have your own personal tab locker. Bundles created with the bundled scripts can be accessed through the tools menu on the Free Freezer is a professional, which allows you to fast and easily archive photos, video and other files to a free space on your hard disk. As the name suggests, this program allows you to create automatic backups of your data in order to restore them in case something happens. Although the program does not include any tools for photo editing (rotate, crop, save, etc.), it does support five different archiving methods. These include ZIP, TAR, RAR, 7z, and BZIP2, and each of them allows you to create a backup of a specific folder. The principle of operation is simple. Once you select a file, the Freezer will examine it for the type (image, audio or video), size and any embedded data. If the file meets the requirements, it will be archived and placed in the archive container. Freezer comes with the option to automatically back up your current directory, or a specific folder. In the latter case, the software will
