before 2am on Monday, a worker at a factory in Summer Hill saw a girl in a black dress sinking in a drain channel at the back of a building at 406 The Parade, Greenacre. Police and firefighters arrived and the girl was quickly recovered but she was later pronounced dead at the University of NSW hospital. The girl's parents made a statement to police on the day of the incident saying they were on their way to a tikki-tak for her birthday celebration and she was driving herself in a silver vehicle, believed to be an X-trail or Tourer. Senior Constable William Johnson told the inquest on Tuesday the girl had not been identified from a CCTV image at the time of the incident.

"Her death was a tragic one," he said. "We don't know how deep she was into the waterway or how long she was in there, it was only about 10 to 15 minutes before she was recovered." Senior Constable Johnson said the body of a man who had been last seen by an employee at the factory was found on a partially-submerged road about 200 metres from the site of the incident. Police said he had been dead for an unknown period of time.

The inquest is expected to resume on Tuesday afternoon.Q:
