INTERNAL LOGISTICAL 2.0: USERS PACK - INCLUDES:.... About This ContentFeature: It is a two-fold update that firstly fixes the issue with the cities not appearing properly in some terrains and secondly introduces a custom map where all the added mountains are. In this map, you can start out in any of the five selected towns: You will not be starting at the boot camp unless you have defeated the mission and a suit of armor. For high level players, after you are called to deliver for the first time, there is a special mission where you must retrieve the armor in the box and pick it up from the Armor storage and then you are able to leave it at the doorman and be back to the waiting room. The job, or in this case the armor, is now just sitting there, waiting for you to pick it up, and the part that seems to be most confusing is the lack of a mission to pick it up. Yes, you will start on the edge of the map, but that does not mean you are on the edge of the map. There is no mission to pick it up. Instead, you can wait for the doorman and be back to the waiting room. This gives the players a chance to download the new version and see if their cities are broken or not. These are some of the changes: * New job for the Low/Mid range of the team (Thieves/Snipers): Invasion Plan * New job for the Mid range of the team (Sentry/Arch) * New skill for all mid range soldiers (Attack on night) * New kit for all mid range soldiers (Night vision sight) * New kit for the defenders (Night vision sight) * New skill for defenders (Anton: He takes care of the sentry) * New kit for the defenders (Milanese knife) * New skills for the defenders (Attack on Ant) * New kit for the defenders (Two heeled shoes) * New kit for defenders (Monte Santo oil) * New kit for the defenders (Lupo Santo) * New skills for the defenders (Perimeter) * New kit for the defenders (Barono) * New skills for the defenders (Overwatch) * New kit for the defenders (Barono) * New skills for the defenders (Hand to hand combat) * New kits for defenders (Crossbow)

What's new:

In this time, the Bounty Hunter's involvement with the Dark Tower organization has increased with Pieter's arrival. They have helped the organization build new and more efficient factories to make their weapons. Pieter is rumored to be a good bounty hunter, so many people envy him for his abilities and years of hunting experience. He often sends messages to Caleb asking him how Stampede is going or if anyone is still after him. Caleb and Pieter both have the same dream. They both want to see the truth, but Pieter has a better idea for how to get close to it. The trouble is that, if Pieter falls for Caleb's trap and Caleb attacks the tower, all of the assassins could be killed. They could even be the ones who killed Pieter's sisters, if Caleb has a darker side. Caleb often thinks that Pieter has the worst idea sometimes, but Pieter still helps him even though they are sometimes at odds. Contents Caution: This article describes a plot device from the comics. It is for an audience familiar with said plot device. Concern: This article may contain spoilers from the Legacy of the White Witch storyline. To be safe, you should probably read it. Pieter is a bounty hunter, and a very good one at that. He hunts people and collects their bounty. He also has a particular hatred of the order The Seven Stomps. Pieter knows that he isn't much of a bounty hunter, and knows his skills are lacking, but he doesn't mind the fact that he is relegated to fishing nets and digging water wells. He is really good at finding his way around, and his workmanship is excellent. After his origins were changed to be that of a nobleman, he began hunting in order to make his own bounty. Pieter is respectful and doesn't think he is worth fighting for anything, but he also does not like others to try and steal what is rightfully his. He is very good at finding and transporting people around mountains and even can pick up the component pieces of the world. Pieter occasionally tells Caleb about his intentions for his life, and both agree that others should help him. Listing The Bund Pieter was initially raised as a nobleman. He is usually very polite, gentle, and does not seem violent. He hates to have others tell him what he should be doing. Pieter can be very stubborn when he does not think he
