Murray, the author of controversial new book “Coming Apart: The State of White America” and one of this year’s winners of the National Humanities Medal, returned to his alma mater for a speaking tour and a final Carnegie Mellon alumni dinner on March 9, he was tackled by some protesters who chanted “racism is alive,” “Charles Murray is a white supremacist” and “we don’t want your ass here.” Some of the protesters, who were part of the New York University chapter of the student group United Students Against Sweatshops (USAAS), were carrying signs saying, “The systemic oppression of black people is real,” “Renegade,” and “Charles Murray is a white supremacist.” ❖
