in' by Fate "Groovin' by Fate" is a song by American singer Celine Dion, released as the third single from her fourth English-language studio album Falling into You (1998). The song was written by Diane Warren. Dion had originally recorded "Echoes" for her sixteenth studio album, In the Light of Day. It was included on the Scott Walker collabo album Chapter V, released in September 1998. "Groovin' by Fate" also featured on Walker's Chapter V Greatest Hits (2001). In 1999, Dion performed the song live on several occasions. A commercial song, it received positive reviews from music critics, many of whom praised its effectiveness. "Groovin' by Fate" was nominated for the Grammy Award for Record of the Year, losing to U2's "Beautiful Day". The song won the Grammy Award for Best Female Pop Vocal Performance, defeating Diana Ross' "I'm Coming Out". Dion performed the song at the award ceremony, but lost to Ross. It was a commercial success in many countries, especially in Canada and the US. Background and writing During a radio interview before the song's release, Dion stated, "The song is a bit different. It's my own song. It's not Diane Warren. It's not her song. It's about the person I am and my beginning. About five years ago I look like a girl that went through a lot with her family. People know that in the song. Later on the song, it's a dancer [in the] disco." Dion and Diane Warren first met in 1992 to record the song "All the Way" for the film The Bodyguard. Warren had also written some songs for Dion in her previous studio albums A New Day Has Come (1997), Let's Talk About Love (1994) and Falling Into You (1998) and Diane Warren received writing credits for Dion's previous singles "A New Day Has Come", "I Love All of You", "Because You Loved Me" and "Where Does My Heart Beat Now". Despite Dion's strong commitment to her religious beliefs, Warren always keeps religion out of her songs to demonstrate how everybody has a different faith. Composition The song, written by Diane Warren, is a Latin-style pop song, with a musical arrangement and a "syncopated beat". It has both a pop and disco styles, with elements of swing. The song is written in the key of A Major at a moderate
