It does this for various purposes, but at its core it is meant to serve a practical purpose by stopping people from losing their thoughts. It is also used to analyse, record and evaluate the population. The Machine is so vast and advanced that it has for the most part, been left entirely undiscovered. No one knows about The Machine, but one day it will arrive and all life on Earth will end. Players must explore the machine, its internal world and program to reveal what is happening behind the veil. Players will not only have to uncover what The Machine is up to but also uncover what The Machine is thinking about.
