I used XAMPP to do the job. My problem is after login into my website via the domain name, the user is remembered on the domain login. I think PHP keep the user memory. I do not want that. How can I prevent this? By the way, I have used PHP 5.3.8 and MySQL 5.1.51 A: Look at your php.ini settings. I would guess that you have keep_pass set to 0. In this case, each time a user logs in they get a new session cookie. If you want to keep the users login between requests, you'll have to store this data in the database. A: Use this in your php.ini session.use_only_cookies = 1 or session.cookie_httponly = 1 This will make PHP not to keep the session in client side. The Importance of the Regulated Market in Easton I am sure many of you had no idea that purchasing your Easton Golf Clubhouse and 9-hole Golf Course is actually regulated by the State of Maine. Yes, you read that right! In order for a regulated commodity to be sold in Maine, a Certificate of Sale is required at the Division of Parks & Recreation. This certificate identifies the seller, the property, and the buyer. So, when you are buying a new golf course, you are actually buying a regulated commodity, and the State of Maine regulates these commodities. The Division of Parks & Recreation has an Online Sales System where the buyer can find purchase information and register to purchase a golf course. During my time as a golf course professional, I
